SIR HUGH ALLAN'S LETTERS.
The Globe on Friday published the following as a special telegram from Montreal:

(MONTREAL, July 3.)

The following portion of the documents in evidence, showing the corrupt nature of the negotiations between Sir Hugh Allan and the Government, in connection with the granting of the Pacific Railway charter, has come into our possession.

gaged with us in the railroad enterprise

(Letter)
"LONDON, E. C. Nov. 4, 1897
"DEAR MR. SMITH,—I find considerable interest manifested here by the women men in our scheme of a Dominion Pa Road, and if we desire to raise funds to carry on the work, I have no doubt can be obtained. I have not heard any from the Government on the subject, a presume nothing will be done till I get I propose to sail some time this month.

will be prepared to deal with us sooner

"MONTREAL, 8th Dec., 1891

"I have seen Sir Francis to-day. He

it is of no use to visit Ottawa at present.
I write you by mail.

(Letter)
"MONTREAL, 8th Dec. 1871
"To C. M. Smith, Esq. Chicago:—
"DEAR SIR,—Sir Francis thinks only my office this day and said that while was as anxious as ever to arrange with about the railroad, the feeling of the present is that if they closed an agency in New York without advertising for a replacement, they would be liable for the loss of business in New York. I think this may be true, as I have lived in New York for 18 years, and I know of lives on cases in our going to the present, but I think we should to arrange preliminaries ourselves and on a course of action. If therefore we were to close the agency, the 10th would go to New York, and the 10th and 18th, and we could then put the shape, phases and adapt me if this suits you. Yours truly

RECORDED
"MONTREAL, 15th Dec,
"46 To G. W. McMillan, Esq., Prime, Ont.
"DEAR SIR, I HAVE YOUR NOTE FROM 1st but have not heard from New York since. I have no doubt the reasons are regarding railroad matters, and I have reason to believe that Mr. Brydges is the influence he can with Gardiner to the view, not that he has any proposal, so that I will wait for him to get together. A party in the interest of the same's Buy Company, consisting of Doc Smith, D. McMillan, G. Ladlow, G. M. Deather, and J. W. McMillan, and I have two others, John & John McMillan,

"Dear Mr. McLELLAN, I saw Mr. W. yesterday and found out pretty nearly what I require, to make my sufferer's protection terms are very high, but as they possibly more than himself, we may have to let them. He thinks, however, that the Government will not have the courage to go in scheme at all, and will shirk it till all elections. I go to Ottawa on Wednesday will see what they propose to do. I will you as soon as I find out. I intend to

"DEAR MR. MONTGOMERY, I returned yesterday from Ottawa. COAL OIL COOKING STOVE.

Burns Coal Oil at an expense of One Cent in the Stove, without smoke or smell, and does every variety of cooking in a very superior manner.

Bakes bread, biscuits, apples, potatoes, cakes, pies, etc. Heats meat, fowl and fruit to perfection. They are not subject to be dried up in the ordinary method by the closeness of the cover.

Sells and steams vegetables, puddings, and all kinds of meat. Breads or fruit steaks, roasts, broils, etc. He heats iron, etc. and is admirably adapted for drying photographs.

It is simple and neat—occupies but a small space upon a kitchen table. It is always ready for use, requiring only a match for kindling—and can be extinguished at pleasure.

The heat can be regulated to a nicety, and is not subject to those variations to which all other stoves are liable. This will be appreciated by the landlady or the lady who does her own cooking. There is no smoke, unpleasant odor, dust or noise.

Families of any size may do their entire cooking with this stove. To students, clerks, and all who desire to study economy, it is invaluable. The saving in fuel soon defrays its whole cost.

The sick room, the nursery, the counting house, the workshop, will soon discover its usefulness. As a Summer Cooking Stove it is unequalled, as it does not heat the house. The stove will be manufactured to meet the wants of each.

TESTIMONY ON OATH OF SIE
HUGH ALLAN.
"MONTREAL, July 4, 1871.
"To the Editor of the Gazette.
"SIR,—I see by the Montreal Herald this morning that some person who has come possessed of private letters written me, has published them in that paper therefore feel bound to state the cir-stances under which those letters were written, and I have thought proper to do under the sanction of an oath, as I am

"I am, sir,
"Your obed't serv't.
""HUGH ALLAN
"I, Sir Hugh Allan, of Ravenscraig, the Province of Quebec, Knight, b do hereby solemnly depose and swear

"That I have for some years past taken a strong interest in the development of railway communication throughout the Dominion of Canada, and particularly in that district of country lying to the westward of Montreal, with a view to increasing the facilities of communication between the east and west of America, and amongst other projects, my attention early directed to the scheme for the construction of a railway between Montreal and the most westerly Atlantic seaport, the Pacific Ocean.

"That in the autumn of 1871 I took part in conversation with Sir Francis Eliot, then a member of the House of Commons, that certain American capitalists had proposed to the Government, through Wedge, to organize a company for the purpose of building the Canadian Pacific Railway, but that no action had been taken upon their proposition.

"That inasmuch as no movement had appeared to be contemplated in Canada for the purpose in question—and I doubt whether Canadian capitalists could be induced to subscribe to it to any large extent—I obtained from Sir F. Hincks the names of persons who had been communicating with the Government, and immediately put myself in correspondence with them."

"That accordingly after a month of negotiation, I entered in agreement with Mr. Smith, of Chicago, and Mr. Mcullen, who was understood to represent a certain number of American capitalists, in which I reserved for myself the right to introduce a new clause to be subscribed in Canada, to the remainder to be taken up by the Americans interested and the vigorous prosecution contemplated a vigorous prosecution of the work of construction in connection with the proposed canal project, so soon as it should be ascertained that the means to be placed at disposal of the Company were such as to obtain the opinion of the associates, would be that in undertaking the contract with the Government, the Company had implicitly and explicitly declared that it was in the agreement itself, nor is any

...ation or negotiation connected with the plan, there any stipulation, statement, or expressed plan which had for its object the retardation of the work, or any other purpose than its completion, throughout the day as would be consistent with the reasonable economy in building it; and, more particularly, I declare that there was no intention, expressed or implied, in the agreement or in the negotiation which accompanied it, of placing it in the power of the Northern Pacific Railway Company or any other company or body of men to obstruct the enterprise in any manner or for any purpose whatever."

"That no further steps of importance were taken by myself or associates with reference to the opening of the tunnel at the time of the opening of the tunnel."

Parliament at Ottawa, in respect of projected Company, except that I myself in communication with the Government, offering to organize a Company, which would undertake the construction of the road, and discussing the question of the facilities and aid which the Government would probably recommend to be furnished by the country; and in the course of discussions and negotiations, I endeavored as far as possible, to secure for myself the position of President of the proposed Company, which was the position my plates were willing to allow me, and which I thought myself entitled, from active part which I took in the great national enterprise to which the agreements and negotiations in question had issue: and as to this point I had reason to believe from the fact that the Government was prepared to admit my claim.

That when the time for the session of the Canadian Parliament approached, I applied to Mr. Abbott to prepare the requisite legislation, and shortly after Parliament had opened, I proceeded to Ottawa to

"That previous to this time, how I had communicated with a large number of persons in Canada on the subject of proposed Company, requesting their co-operation and assistance, and endeavoring to induce them to subscribe for stock to an extent as I thought fair considering the position and means; and though I did

THE DOMINION

COAL OIL COOKING STOVE.

Burns Oil and Gas at an expense of One Cent in the Hour, without loss of heat, and does every variety of cooking in a very superior manner.

BAKES bread, blanch, apples, potatoes, cakes, pies, &c. Roasts meat, fowls and birds to perfection. They are not subject to be dried up as is the ordinary method by the use of the coal.

Boils and steams vegetables, puddings, and all kinds of meat. Boils or fries steaks, oysters, tomatoes, &c. Boils fish from sole and salmon and preserves their color, and is admirably adapted for drying photographs.

It is simple and durable—takes but a small space upon a kitchen table, is always ready for use, requiring only a match for kindling—and can be extinguished at pleasure.

The heat can be regulated to a nicety, and not subject to those variations to which all other fires are liable. This will be appreciated by the landlady, or the lady who does her own cooking. There is no smoke, unpleasant odor, dirt nor noise.

Families of all sizes will find it their cooking with little more. 20 students, clerks, and all who desire to study economy, it is invaluable. The saving in fuel soon defrays its whole cost.

The sick room, the nursery, the counting house, the workshop, will soon discover its usefulness. As a summer cooking stove it is unequalled, as it does not heat the room.

The stove will be manufactured to meet the wants of each.

W. E. BOTTOMS,
Agent for Belleville and vicinity.

If babies get thirty between the times of taking food let them have all the cool, fresh water they want.

The Board of Health for New York has recommended the following as the summer diet for infants, when mothers cannot nurse them:

For under six months old, boil a teaspoonful of powdered barley in the coffee grinder and a glass of water with salt for fifteen minutes. Strain it and mix it with half as much boiled milk and a piece of loaf sugar. Give it, lukewarm, through a nursing bottle.

Keep the bottle and mouthpiece in water, when not in use.

Give babies at five or six months half barley water and half boiled milk, with salt and loaf sugar.

Give older babies more milk in proportion.

When babies are very colic take out-lashes of barley, but be sure to cook and strain it.

When your breast milk is half enough for the infant alternate with breast and food.

In hot summer weather dip a small piece of lintum paper (obtained at a drug store) into the food before feeding; if it turns red the food is sour. If it is blue, pink, red, add a pinch of baking soda to the food.

Babies six months may have beef tea or pea soup once a day, by itself or with other food.

Babies ten or twelve months may have a crust of bread and a piece of rare beefsteak to suck.

No child under two years ought to eat from your table.

The summer complaint comes from over-feeding and hot and cool air. Keep doors and windows open. Wash your children with cold water at least twice a day. Ten times is not too many in the hot season.

When babies throw off and purge, give them nothing to eat for four or six hours, but all the cold water you can.—Health Journal of Health.

TOWN AND VICINITY

Town Council this evening.

The steamship had not had passengers from Belleville this morning.

There was no business at the Police Court this morning. Six cases for trial.

CHICKEN-TO-HOTTER afternoon—Mr. Chalmers at Lawyer. The latter was strong of retaining their clients last at the first meeting between them.

The full band of the 15th will play on the Agricultural Grounds this evening.

It is probable that the arrangements will be changed, as the military band will on Wednesday and the quadrille band on Saturday evening.

The July sitting of the Division Court is being held to-day. There is a good deal of business before the Court.

A successful excursion, per steamer Rochester, is to take place to-morrow night. The steamer will leave here at 7 o'clock.

The monthly meeting of Benjamin L. O. N. No. 274, this evening in the Orange Hall, at eight o'clock.

The police kept the approaches of the bridge clear of leaders last night, and are entitled to credit therefor.

On the day last night had been the number of those in attendance. Besides the shop doors of their tenants, the service would have been appreciated.

It is about time that the town officials consider the cutting of the thistles and other weeds which block the way of the many of the streets. Otherwise, the Corporation will be liable to prosecution under the Thistle Act.

THE GRANGE No. 10 at Massena Point on Saturday, the 13th, was a great success. From 1,000 to 1,200 people attended, and, but for the incapacity of the steamer Norfolk to carry all who wished to go, some 200 or 300 would have been added to the number of those in attendance.

Besides the excursions from Belleville, considerable numbers of visitors from Prince Edward, were made their way to the Point in carriages and wagons, were present. Games of various kinds were indulged in, and two platforms for dancing were erected, at each of which a quadrille band discoursed calving strains, and each of which found a sufficient number of couples to fill them during the entire evening.

About 8 o'clock the party returned to town, after a right pleasant day's enjoyment, the arrangements having been of the most satisfactory character.

The Ogdensburg Tragedy.

A YOUNG LADY DROWNED IN THE PUBLIC STRAITS.

(From the Journal.)

A most terrible and shocking accident occurred in the public streets of this city on Wednesday afternoon, by which one of the most amiable and respected young ladies of Ogdensburg met a terrible and untimely death.

Miss Mary Ryan, second daughter of R. R. Ryan, Carpenter, had called at P. Collins' to give music lessons. The pupils were not at home, and after speaking to Mrs. Collins she passed down State Street. When opposite the residence of G. W. Black she met a man named Mosher, who noticed her dress was on fire, and called to her, waiting for the car.

When Miss Ryan discovered her condition she ran across the street, screaming for help. Mosher, Henry Kelley, and others endeavored to strip off her clothing, which by this time was completely enveloped in a sheet of flame, which reached three feet above her head. Jerry Golden came out of his house with a quilt, which the man quickly wrapped around her to smother the flame. Mrs. W. W. Houghton threw out a woollen blanket, but all their efforts the fire was not extinguished till her clothing had caught every article, was consumed. As soon as the fire burnt out, Miss Ryan walked into Mr. Mosher's in a nude state, as there upon a chair and asked for something to cover her saying, "

COAL OIL COOKING STOVE.

Burns Coal Oil at an expense of One Cent in the Hour, without smoke or smell, and does every variety of cooking in a superior manner.

Baked bread, meat, apples, potatoes, cakes, pies, etc., in a most perfect manner. They are not subject to be dried up as the ordinary stoves are, by the action of the heat.

Boils and steams vegetables, puddings, and all kinds of meat, Broth or Prime Soups, soups, omelette, etc. Heat is uniform, gives a taste and "tender" to the food, and is admirably adapted for drying photographs.

It is simple and compact—occupies a small space upon a kitchen table, is always ready for use, requiring only a match for kindling and can be extinguished at pleasure.

The heat can be regulated to a steady, and is not subject to those variations to which all other stoves are liable. It will be appreciated by the landlady, or the lady who does her own cooking. There is no smoke, unpleasant odor, or dirt.

Families of any size may do their daily cooking with this stove. To students, and all who desire to study economy, it is invaluable. The saving in fuel soon defrays the whole cost.

The sick room, the nursery, the counting house, the workshop, will soon discover its usefulness. As a Summer Cooking Stove it is unequalled, as it does not heat the house. The stove will be manufactured to meet the wants of each.

VOID QUACKS!—A victim of early every advertised remedy, has discovered a simple means of cure, which he will send free to the following friend. Address

J. H. REVEREN, 78 Nassau street, New York.

St. Ann, West of Place

I WAS FORSEVERE YEARS SUFFERING

from Comp. Expectorant, and Night breath, attended with extreme nervous and physical prostration. My body was greatly emaciated, and the general impression was that I was going to die. I was long in the hands of the WHEELER'S COMPOUND EXTRACT

OF VINETIA AND CALIFORNIA, and my improvement took place immediately. I gained weight, strength, my bowels and my Night breath disappeared, and I am now in the enjoyment of excellent health. Many of my friends to whom I have recommended the Extract have experienced equally remarkable results.

several days, and the city has a deserted and gloomy appearance. Physicians have arrived from several surrounding towns and are rendering all the assistance in their power.

Among the deaths to-day was Dr. M. E. O'Neil, outbreak of the epidemic, has been most active in his efforts to heal the sick and dying.

Wedding of an Indian Prince.

THE DAILY INTELLIGENCER.

The heir apparent of an Indian Prince, the Nawab of Junagadh, was married in the latter part of May. The Nawab spent a very large amount of money on the entertainment given to the European and native guests. As many as 40,000 visitors flocked to Junagadh from the neighboring towns to witness the spectacle, which is said to have been even more gorgeous than that which the Nawab received Sir Seymour Fitzgerald in 1870, the wedding ceremony being, with its brilliant decorations, having cost 55,000 rupees. The wedding procession was two hours in passing a given point. First came half a dozen elephants, each with a rider, and a large number of grooms, each bearing on their backs a horse for the use of the Nawab's guests. The Nawab's carriage was a magnificent gold and silver coach, and was followed by a large number of grooms, each bearing on their backs a horse for the use of the Nawab's guests. to repute into the hands of the stockholders of the city, Bloomington, Quincy, Evansville, and other towns in the West. He also succeeded in placing a good deal of stock, the amount received on this account being about $100,000. His committee were successful.

But a reckless disregard of the stockholders' interest seemed to have been manifested from the start. The stockholders' understanding with which McMillan had started in with the Smiths increased as time went on, and, as set off to the very good thing over and over again, he was allowed to do as he pleased.

Just as much as he pleased. In the company may be mentioned one of the little things that McMillan did to get around an awkward corner. At a somewhat later period of the history of the company—it should be stated that it was organized in 1870—the official State Inspector of Insurance companies of another State, in which the State Insurance Company was operating, having been called to Chicago to examine the condition of the institution. It was a hard place to be caught by the Smiths and McMillan in, but they were caught in the act. Just previous to the arrival of the inspector, they had sent him a letter warning him, McMillan drew a check for $45,000, and deposited it with the Smiths, as money belonging to the State Insurance Company. With this amount together with two other large checks for $7,000, the cash assets of the insurance company were put in as a condition before the inspector. The bank declared the checks were as good as cash, and nothing could be said. The State officer retired to his own State, and reported in favor of the institution being allowed to continue to do business. He was scarcely left the doors of the Smith Bank building when the $45,000 check was torn up, and the entry in the books of the firm, showing the deposit of so much cash in favor of the Company, was crossed out by the very obnoxious young man, named W. H. Park, who filed the position of cashier to the Smith firm, and things were once more smooth in the office of the talented Superintendent of Agencies—Geo. W. McMillan.

The Company was doing a very good business, notwithstanding the character of the men associated with it, and it was becoming more and more known. The Smiths were doing very much more prosperous than had not been for the reckless investment of its funds, and the unlimited expenses of its Superintendent of Agencies. It should be stated that McMillan also acted as Superintendent of the Executive and Finance Companies, and also one of the Board of Directors. With Charles Smith, Mac was the moving spirit of the concern. But towards the close of 1870, the stockholders began to grow suspicious of the heads of the concern, and in their turn, the Smiths and McMillan both recognized the fact that, so strong was the feeling among the general body of shareholders against them, their own tenure of office was not a very short one. They held no controlling influence in the stock, and were apparently at their wits' end to meet the emergency. Things went from bad to worse until in November, 1870, McMillan and Smith drew a notice of an assessment of $4 per share on the stock of the Company, to meet deficiencies. This act caused the greatest excitement and was signified by those who have a good deal of the inner workings of the company, as being a move less than a diabolical attempt to frighten stockholders, and to induce them to sell out their interests at a low figure. It is claimed there existed no necessity, if the shares were managed properly, for the call, and the secretary who so stated his opinion was summarily dismissed from his position. In a circular which he issued warning the stockholders, and which led to his discharge, the Secretary stated that it was conceded that "the assessment is unlawful for this time, and that it has been rushed through by parties who perhaps see a favorable opportunity of making a high speculation by buying the stock at half its actual value, controlling the election, and arranging a programme for the future to suit themselves," and added that in his belief "the movement (of making the call) was full of wickedness, and without a single practicable or successful feature to commend it." McMillan clapped the Secretary's head off forthwith, Frank and brutal statements were what he could not stand then.

The result proved that the opinions of the Secretary were well founded. The assessment of $4 per share was made, and the McMillan clique, in the belief that stock would go down, endeavored to buy enough to control the company. But somehow the stockholders were not so easily taken in, and little stock changed hands. These events caused great excitement to exist among the stockholders, and at a caucus held by them on the evening before the day of the annual meeting, in January, 1871, it was rendered very apparent that a large majority were in favor of changing the management of the company, special hostility being shown against Charles Smith and Geo. W. McMillan.

At the meeting held next day, a singular denouement took place. There were about 100 persons present, and on the first ballot being taken, it was discovered that there were more votes for Smith and McMillan than for the other candidates. This led to a scene, and on the demand of the stockholders, the Secretary announced that, within a day or two, there had been an extra issue of 700 shares, amounting in value to $400,000.

These shares were held or controlled by the Smiths and McMillan interest, and, of course, with the shares already held by the conspirators, completely controlled the stockholders. The conspirators were charged with the stock at this time of affairs, and even so, not for the reason that no formal protest was entered against the issue of the 7,000 shares. These shares increased the capital of the company to about $400,000, and paid not a cent of actual money was paid on their account. It was a bogus operation. The several companies were merged in the new one, and the new company was organized, and purchased so many shares of the insurance company, and paid for them with checks drawn on the Smiths.

THE DAILY INTELLIGENCER.

Who is McMillan?

Those who want to know something of the man upon whose unwelcome testimony the reputation of our foremost public men are dragged, and the honor of the city is soiled, may find a chapter or two contributed by the Montreal Gazette, parts of which were reproduced in our columns to-day.

There is no pleasure in any right-minded journalist in laying bare to the public eye such a history as is briefly written by the Gazette's correspondent. It is a matter of course, however, that the man upon whose policy of the times in which we live, and it must be a source of regret to those who are sincerely looking and striving for an improved moral atmosphere in the business world of life, to find such a rank growth of corruption, such a total absence of honor and integrity, as are here brought to light. We must confess, however, to a rather grim satisfaction in finding that the man who has attempted to blot the reputation of our public men—the man whose statements have, from their very nature and circumstantiality of detail, caused a very painful feeling of distrust throughout the country—the man upon whose evidence the character and standing of the men who have made this country what it is, the brilliant and greatest business men beyond the power of the press or brush to paint—that man whose very breath was expected to wipe out these illustrious names from Canada's history—was found unworthy of being credited himself. In the face of that record, will we be content to suspend judgment as to the alleged criminality of the Government? If, indeed, we might be basely at once and forever accused of the guilt which the so-called revelations might have produced—until the whole charge can be thoroughly investigated by a competent tribunal.

Who is McMillan?
Those who want to know something of the man upon whose unwelcome testimony the reputation of our foremost public men are dragged, and the honor of the city is soiled, may find a chapter or two contributed by the Montreal Gazette, parts of which were reproduced in our columns to-day.

There is no pleasure in any right-minded journalist in laying bare to the public eye such a history as is briefly written by the Gazette's correspondent. It is a matter of course, however, that the man upon whose policy of the times in which we live, and it must be a source of regret to those who are sincerely looking and striving for an improved moral atmosphere in the business world of life, to find such a rank growth of corruption, such a total absence of honor and integrity, as are here brought to light. We must confess, however, to a rather grim satisfaction in finding that the man who has attempted to blot the reputation of our public men—the man whose statements have, from their very nature and circumstantiality of detail, caused a very painful feeling of distrust throughout the country—the man upon whose evidence the character and standing of the men who have made this country what it is, the brilliant and greatest business men beyond the power of the press or brush to paint—that man whose very breath was expected to wipe out these illustrious names from Canada's history—was found unworthy of being credited himself. In the face of that record, will we be content to suspend judgment as to the alleged criminality of the Government? If, indeed, we might be basely at once and forever accused of the guilt which the so-called revelations might have produced—until the whole charge can be thoroughly investigated by a competent tribunal.

of Piquette street, as set forth in said resolution, and that the Mayor of the Corporation had thereupon forwarded the same, with the attached report, to the Council.

Mr. Vandusen objected that notice was required.

The Mayor held the point of order well taken.

Mr. Benjamin considered that the matter had been duly discussed with too long and ought to be moved.

The rules of the Council be suspended.

Mr. Burdett seconded the motion.

Mr. Burdett objected, holding that so far as regarded obtaining any advantage from the Council, the motion was in a worse position than before.

The Board had failed to comply with the request of the Council to advise a Street, and until they did so, the Council should not take any action.

Mr. Henderson agreed with Mr. Burdett regarding the definition of a Street or Streets. The Street ought to be named, so that it could be ascertained what amount of damage to property would be affected, and how the public interests would be affected.

The Mayor said he wished it distinctly understood that the Council was taking the greatest responsibility in passing consideration of the matter to night. He advised the suspension of the rules to discuss the matter. The contractor had advertised for tenders for the work, and if the Council postponed the matter for a fortnight, the night might be located outside the town. The suspension of the rules would commit them to no particular course.

Mr. Burdett said that the City Company were bound by their own guarantee to build the road through the town, and if they did not carry out their agreement, legal means might prevent their putting the road not only outside of the town, but not anywhere.

Mr. Patterson wished for a full meeting of Council, and objected that such a motion should be sprung upon the Council.

Mr. Vandusen argued in the same strain as Mr. Burdett.

Mr. Henderson expressed himself ready to give way, at the Mayor's suggestion.

Mr. Vandusen favored the suspension of the rules.

Mr. Vandusen also agreed to give way, not desiring to throw any serious obstacle in the way of the enterprise.

The motion for the suspension of the rules was then put and lost on the following division:

YEA—Messrs. Taylor, Sutherland, Benjamin, Northcutt, Henderson, Foster and the Mayor—7.

NAY—Messrs. Burdett, Patterson, Denham, Holden and Vandusen—5.

The motion was thus lost, the requisite two-thirds not being obtained.

Mr. Benjamin's motion to stand as a motion, and Mr. Vandusen's By-law was also allowed to stand.

EXTENSION OF BRIDGE.

Mr. Vandusen moved a resolution for the extension of the bridge on Bridge Street in West Belleville until it intersects the drain on Murray's Hill, now being constructed—Carried.

HARBOR COMMISSION.

Mr. Holden moved that the Council petition the Dominion Parliament for an Act for the appointment of a Harbor Commission for the government of the harbor—Lost.

FOOT BRIDGE.

Mr. Holden moved, seconded by Mr. Burdett, an instruction to the Town Board, or to draw up a By-law, to be submitted to the people, for the setting aside of $3000 or the construction of a foot bridge.

Mr. Benjamin asked what had become of the large subscription—amounting to the sum of $10,700—which was to have been presented to the Council on the 15th inst. He did not favor the building of a foot bridge, but if it were to be built, the money for the Town to assist the project was by bonus.

Mr. Patterson could not vote for the motion in absence of details.

After a long debate the motion was put and lost.

TOWN CLOCK.

Mr. Henderson moved a resolution, that the contract be given to the Messrs. McPhee, on the terms previously named, the cost of the illuminated dial to be paid over and above the contract price, allowance to be made for the wooden dial not to be used.

Mr. Taylor urged that the contract be awarded for it was satisfied that $300 would be saved by that course.

After a long discussion the original motion was carried.

The Council adjourned, after ratifying the transfer of St. John's license.

"Who's to Blame?"

In an article a few days since we stated that of the Opposition, represented by Messrs. Blake and Dorion, had not signed the bill of a Royal Commission, the Committee would have been able to have secured the bill in the House of Commons. The Opposition did not want to have the testimony of their witnesses taken under oath, nor did they want the Committee to report to the House.

They were not induced by perjury, or what is worse, a determination to deceive, feeding the whole article, could come to any other conclusion than this, that our wholehearted support is to the bill of Messrs. Blake and Dorion to the issue of a Commission, by which alone evidence could be taken under oath, and that having opposed and refused to set on such Commission they gave the best possible evidence that they "did not want to have the testimony" of their witnesses taken under oath.

As a matter of fact, it is remembered that these gentlemen, urged on by their organs, were anxious to proceed with the inquiry after the Oaths Bill had been dissolved by the law officers of the Crown in England, by which the only means that existed to enable witnesses to be sworn before a Parliamentary Committee, had been taken from them. Every one who reads knows that a clause was made in the House when the question was before it, against the issue of a Royal Commission, and in favor of the swearing of witnesses before a Parliamentary Committee, knowing at the same time, that no power existed, which had been taken from them, to do so.

Witnesses could be sworn; and that the more this question was discussed and the clearer it was pointed out that no such power existed, the more vehement the Opposition became in favor of the bill, which constituted the only means to do so.

St. John A. Macdonald, in order to put the question beyond a doubt, pledged himself that he "would undertake to take such steps as would insure witnesses in this Committee being examined under oath. He would not say he would do it by Bill, but it should be done in a legal manner, so that witnesses could be sworn."

This pledge he faithfully carried out. The House subsequently, at the instance and with the support of the Ministry, passed a Bill authorizing witnesses to be sworn. St. John at the same time pointing out that, in his opinion, such a law would be unconstitutional. If such should prove to be the case, he would take other steps to put it within the power of the Committee by a Royal Commission to administer oaths to witnesses; and so soon as it was ascertained that the view of the constitutionality of the question was the correct one, he took the only step left to accomplish at once the object which all seemed to have in view, namely, the passing of the bill.

At this time, Messrs. Blake and Dorion, who were anxious to make the investigation and have the witnesses sworn, were not in a position to do so. They were not in a position to do so, and they were not in a position to do so.

They were not in a position to do so, and they were not in a position to do so. They were not in a position to do so, and they were not in a position to do so.

later, this "we" did not hesitate inserting them in his weekly edition, thereby repeating the falsehood. This "we"—but why should we multiply instances of the "deplorable, base and wicked invention of truth." His whole political life has been one mammoth "deplorable, base and wicked invention of truth." Lies follow one another in a train, and were it not that the respectable men who hire him are supposed to countenance him in his "deplorable, base and wicked invention of truth," his ravings would be beneath contempt. But so long as they permit it, they are equally responsible, and must suffer the odium attached to such "deplorable and base" conduct.

It is mentioned that the spinning wheel as a source of fashionable female occupation, is coming into vogue again. Some body suggests that its romance has been revived, because the wheel figures so often in imported pictures along with pretty girls. Nothing better than spinning shows of a fine art and figure, except perhaps harp playing, which has become obsolete.

Certainly spinning is a more useful and national employment than working impossible dogs on canvas in Berlin wool.
